

SEQUELS:

AIRPLANE II: THE SEQUEL

SOLUTION: THROTTLE

- Step 1: Solve the clues with no blanks in them. Each of the eight answers is a three-letter word.
- Step 2: Take an answer you obtained and use its letters to fill in the blanks of an unsolved clue. Do this without changing the order of the letters. For instance, the letters from SEA go in “One who u__s an o_r” to make “One who uses an oar”. Then, solve the clue to get a new answer.
- Step 3: Repeat Step 2 until you’ve solved all the clues. See the next page for the filled-in clues and answers.
- Step 4: Organize your answers into chains, with each answer linking to the one that its letters helped form the clue for. Notice that each of the eight chains begins with a three-letter answer, ends with a three-letter answer, and has five-letter answers in between. The three-letter answers are codes for U.S. airports, which should seem relevant due to the title.
- Step 5: Read the message from the highlighted blanks, now that you’ve filled them in. They say EACH FIVE-LETTER WORD IS AN AIRSPACE FIX. So, treat each of the chains as a route from airport to airport, with each intermediate five-letter code being an airspace fix, otherwise known as a waypoint designator.
- Step 6: Plot these routes on a U.S. map. The clue for the answer GREAT suggested you’d need the great circle mapper website, and you can find it at gcmmap.com; the blanks at the bottom of the second page show the format gcmmap.com expects for input. Besides gcmmap.com, there are other web sites (e.g., airnav.com and skyvector.com) you could use. Each route forms a letter; when they’re all plotted on the same map, the letters spell the final answer, THROTTLE. You can see this on the map on the page after next, generated using gcmmap.com.
